

GB&W's Molly McKibben, Christian Nickerson, Aaron Osten and Taylor Rayfield Honored as 2018 Southern California Rising Stars

Santa Monica, Ca. (June 7, 2018) – Four attorneys with the Santa Monica-based plaintiff's firm Greene Broillet & Wheeler, LLP made the 2018 Super Lawyers Southern California Rising Stars list. Molly McKibben and Taylor Rayfield were also named Personal Injury: Plaintiff - Top 50 women and Top 100. Christian Nickerson made the Personal Injury: Plaintiff – Top 100 list. And Aaron Osten was honored as a rising star for Civil Litigation: Plaintiff.

Each year, Super Lawyers recognizes the top lawyers in Southern California via a patented multiphase selection process involving peer nomination, independent research and peer evaluation. The Southern California lawyers who receive the highest point totals during this selection process are further recognized in Southern California Super Lawyers Top Lists. The Rising Stars list is developed through Super Lawyer's patented multiphase selection process that showcases the industry's brightest and most promising legal talents under the age of 40.

At Greene Broillet & Wheeler, LLP, every member of our team is fully invested in every case. We invest our time, our resources, our experience and our professional reputations into every case we take. Our law firm has taken on many major corporations and big businesses, and has achieved success in many cases. Every case involves a degree of uncertainty and a degree of risk. Our lawyers understand the anxiety and worry our clients go through, for we go through it ourselves. Although it can take a long time to reach a verdict or a settlement, you can count on our law firm to be at your side as long as it takes to achieve justice on your behalf.
